

FIRED AT THE FLAG.

West Virginia Delegates Have an Adventure.

NEARLY RESULTS IN A HOMICIDE.

An Obstreperous and Indignant Hill Man in an Ohio Town Shoots at a Cleveland Banner on Their Train. Sketch of the Men who Came to Represent the State of Coal and Iron.

Chicago Tribune.

The West Virginia delegation of twelve arrived at the Palmer House over the Baltimore & Ohio at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. They came in Col. J. A. Robinson's private car, "Midlothian," and they met with quite an experience while coming through this great state of Ohio.

At nine o'clock yesterday morning they passed through a little town just east of Deland, O., and a big crowd was near the tracks, watching the train as it passed through and commenting on the banners hung out from the car windows and car doors. The West Virginia delegation had a banner, a handsome silk affair with gold fringe and bright colored ribbons for streamers, which bore the inscription "West Virginia solid for Cleveland."

Some Hill man, evidently fired with righteous indignation at the banner and its inscription, shot at it, and the ball, missing the banner, broke the heavy plate glass in the car door, just missed the head of a delegate, and lodged in the woodwork of the roof of the car.

The inscription on the banner is to a certain extent misleading for while nine of the delegates are for Cleveland, three of them are undecided and have strong Hill tendencies. The West Virginia headquarters are in room No. 16 of the Palmer House.

The West Virginia delegates to the Democratic national convention at Chicago this month are a breezy set. There was some disposition at one time to press the name of ex-United States Senator Henry G. Davis as a delegate-at-large, but the West Virginia Democrats remembered that the ex-senator was Steve Elkins' father-in-law, and would have none of him. They were a little timid, too, about the ex-senator's grammar if he got into the convention as the West Virginia delegate, for the ex-senator has done more to disturb the shade of the late Lindley Murray than any man now living. It is not long since he was asked if he had seen Jim Robinson lately.

"I haven't saw Jim for a week," said the ex-senator, "and I haven't saw anybody as has saw him."

For these reasons, grammatical as well as Elkinsian, the West Virginia Democracy turned the ex-senator down and elected Benjamin Franklin Martin in his place.

Martin is a good country lawyer, who lives at Pruntytown, in Taylor county, and is a Democrat from away back. He has about all the practice worth having in his county, and being its leading lawyer, as well as its most prominent Democratic statesman, he rules there like Brodhead among the Lilliputians. He was asked once why he did not move out of that sparsely settled neck of the woods to Wheeling, or some of the larger towns in the state, where his talents would be more widely appreciated and his industry better rewarded. He answered:

"I would rather be an emperor in Gaul than a peasant in Rome."

EX-SENATOR CAMDEN'S HELP.

The delegates-at-large from West Virginia are ex-United States Senator Johnson N. Camden, from the Fourth district; Judge John Bill St. Clair, from the Third, and James B. Taney, from the First. Camden is the millionaire representative of the Standard Oil company in West Virginia, and besides being a good fellow, has kept the clothing of impetuous Democratic West Virginia workers in good repair for the last twenty years. If any of the sinews of war were wanted by the West Virginia Democratic management during that period, its first, last, and main recourse, has always been upon "Jonce," Judge John Bill St. Clair is too well known to most Virginians to require any elaborate mention. He is the West Virginia member of the National World's Fair Commission, and by virtue of his commission as such, member and his general get up, he is a mogul among the minnows both of the national, state and city commissions. Like the centurion of old, when he says to one of his fellow members of the national commission "Vamoose," that fellow member vamooses; and when he says to a member of the local management, "squint," that member of the local management squints. It is unnecessary, after this reference to his power in West Virginia politics, to say that Judge St. Clair is an equal force in Democratic West Virginia politics. When he raises his Democratic voice in West Virginia the Republicans there flee like birds to the mountains, and when he is out of the state and some of the Republican Goliaths begin to plume themselves, the Democrats cry out in chorus, "Where is our David? Send for Bill St. Clair."

As for James B. Taney, the remaining West Virginia delegate-at-large, he is the editor and one of the largest owners of the Wheeling Register, the ex-cathedral organ of West Virginia Democracy. This winds up the list of West Virginia delegates-at-large, but there are other men of might among the minor members of the delegation. Ex-Congressman John J. Davis is a brass-bound, double-plated, copper-bottomed Democrat from Clarksville, in Harrison county. He knows all the defects of the tariff systems from the time of George Washington down to William McKinley, is up on the resolutions of '49, and stands ready to fight any Republican from the point of a pin to the mouth of a cannon.

A NATIONAL DEBT PAYER. Capt. Alexander Matthews, of the Third district, who lives at Lewisburg, in Greenbrier county, is a valiant Democrat, and is celebrated as the most successful of dealers in West Virginia in "wild land."

"If Cleveland had appointed Aleck Matthews as secretary of the treasury instead of Manning," said a philosophical West Virginian to me recently, "our present national debt would have been discharged long ago. Aleck would have sold off wild lands enough to have paid off the national debt, and his bill to the government for his services would not have exceeded to any considerable extent the amount of our then outstanding national certificates of indebtedness."

John Hooe Russell, a delegate from the Fourth district, is a Democratic banker who lives at Huntington, and is Democratic fighter of the first magnitude. When he was wont to spend his summers down at White Sulphur Springs the boys used to call him John Hooe Russell, but as the title John Hooe suggested some connection with the rustling male species of the order jackassian the practice was, for purposes of safety, given up. I have known him to get his pistols in order and send for his friends, Joe Blackburn, of Kentucky, and Fred Effinger, of Farquhar county, Virginia, to stand with him on the field of battle when a doctor who complained that Russell had licked the medical man's father in a street fight came visiting the Springs without any intention of following up his father's grievance.

The other members of the delegation, Merckard Arnold, of the First district; J. E. Watson and J. A. Robinson, of the Second; W. E. Chilton, of the Third, and T. F. Carpenter, of the Fourth, are good Democratic fighters. It is easy to see that when they are combined with their more noted brethren the delegation will be a force in the convention.

MARTIN'S FERRY.

Accidents and Incidents in That Thriving City—Personal and Industrial.

The Opera House was crowded to its utmost last night to hear and see the annual commencement of St. Mary's schools. The entertainment was a success in every sense of the word and was enjoyed by all present. The programme was as follows: Entrance. March solo—two pianos, Misses Ella Kyre and Julia McDonough; song by little girls, welcome address by Miss Julia McDonough; "Three Little Lads at School," little boys; recitation, little boys; Little Rose Polka, Thos. Smith, J. Donovan, P. McDermott and Misses M. Welsh, M. O'Connell and R. Morgan; song, little boys; doll show, Minims; Sensation Waltz, James McDonough, Misses Julia McDonough, Lulu Hoffman and Minnie Mullany; recitation, little girls; conversation, boys; Spring Flower waltz, Misses M. Kelley, L. Tierney and P. Yingling; Conversation on Sacred History, girls; the Ball, Misses Tierney, O'Connell, Hobbs and Kelley; song, L. O'Donovan and chorus; recitation, girls; quartette singing, girls; Indian club drill, boys; Warbling at Eve, Misses Kyre, Mullany and McDonough and Eick; recitation, boys; recitation, Miss Tillie Fehrbach; instrumental solo, Ed Arbaugh; The Presidents, boys; instrumental solo, Misses Kyre and Eick; song, boys; recitation, Ed Arbaugh; Midnight Fire Alarm, Misses Hoffman and O'Connell and chorus; piano duet, Misses McDonough, Eick, Kyre and Hoffman; recitation, Masters O. Slewin, C. Kruech and M. Smith; cornet duet, E. Dobbins and C. Hoffman; Storm Spirit, girls; song, girls; The Monks Magnificat, Misses McCabe, Hoffman and McDonough; ring drill, girls; instrumental solo, Misses Kyre, McDonough, brass quartette, Misses Dobbins, Donovan, Dobbins and Hoffman; duet, Misses Eick and McDonough; cornet solo, John Dobbins, Little Boys' Farewell.

The social event of the week was the entertainment of Mrs. M. C. Mitchell at their splendid residence on South Fourth street yesterday afternoon. The hours were between 10 and 6 o'clock. Light refreshments were served and the forty or fifty ladies who attended report an excellent time. Mrs. Mitchell, who is a charming hostess, was ably assisted by her cousins, Misses Lulu Brown and Lowell Sutton, two splendid young ladies of St. Clairsville.

Stephen Morris, who shot Henry Williams on May 21, was fined $25 and costs yesterday, amounting in all to $49.50. Thomas was arrested on the charge of "shooting with intent to kill." The charge was withdrawn and Morris was let off with assault and battery. J. C. Gray was his attorney. Morris wanted to marry the fifteen-year-old daughter of Williams. The two men quarreled over this and it resulted in the shooting.

Last night the Second Ward horse company and the Clinch band repaired to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. Sheets and serenaded Mr. James Ralston and bride. The serenaders remained a couple of hours and spent the time very pleasantly. Choice refreshments were served.

Roy White, an eight-year-old colored boy, entered the store of Patsy Daugherty yesterday while Mr. Daugherty was out and proceeded to tap the till. Patsy caught him in the act, gave him a good shaking and two or three kicks, and told him to skip. The youngster went.

Rev. H. W. Simmons has severed his connection with the colored M. E. church as pastor, and will go to Cincinnati, where he will assume the pastoral charge of Union chapel, on Seventh street, next Sunday. The salary will be much larger than in Martin's Ferry.

Five couples of young people went to Wheeling on Tuesday evening and spent the evening with Miss Jennie Maywood, at the Wheeling hospital.

Mr. Marian McGrew, and Miss Myrtle Frazier and Miss Alice Morris left for Scioto yesterday to attend the college commencement.

Yesterday Mrs. Nancy Cooley, of Newland's addition, fell and broke her leg while leading a calf by a rope.

Mrs. William Joy and daughter, Miss Emma, go to Moundsville to-day to visit friends.

Thompson Korr and Luther Thomas are home from the Ohio State University.

Hebron encampment No. 49, I. O. O. F., will hold a special meeting to-night. Miss Lizzie Orr, of East Liverpool, is visiting Mrs. L. W. Inglebright.

Brick work on the Hervey and Shreve block was commenced yesterday.

Mrs. Frank Komp, of Clark's addition, died last night at 9 o'clock.

As an emergency medicine, for sudden colds, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral takes the lead of all remedies, a dose or two generally sufficing to stop ordinary coughs and ease the worst. For the cure of throat and lung disorders, this preparation is unequalled.

Have you visited Moundsville? Do you know it as it is? You may have visited the old town some years ago, but unless you have been there in 1892 you do not know the city.

Wix is pestered with roaches, bed bugs, etc., when Bugins will banish them eternally? 25 cents at all dealers.

A full line of E. C. Burt's celebrated fine shoes just received.

L. V. BLOND, Sole Agent.

WHERE buildings are being erected material is sold, mechanics are paid, merchants are busy filling orders, which are numerous, people are happy and contented. Moundsville is such a place.
